TABLE OF CONTENTS

CHAPTER 1 – INTRODUCTION TO EXPOSITORY WRITING AT THE UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

- OVERVIEW OF MATERIALS 1
- STUDENT DEMOGRAPHICS 2
- UW STUDENTS' PREVIOUS WRITING EXPERIENCES 4
- SAMPLE ENGLISH LITERATURE AP EXAM QUESTIONS & ANSWERS 5
- SAMPLE ENGLISH 131 MAJOR ASSIGNMENTS 11
- WHO ARE OUR STUDENTS? 32

CHAPTER 2 – ENGL 131: BACKGROUND & OVERVIEW OF THE COURSE

- HISTORIES OF COMPOSITION & THE TEACHING OF WRITING 41
- ENGLISH 131: THE COURSE DESCRIPTION 42
- THE COURSE OUTCOMES & CURRICULUM 47
- ENGLISH 131: THE TEXTBOOK 58
- WHAT STUDENTS ARE ASKED TO WRITE IN OTHER CLASSES 59
- A NOTE ON CITATION PRACTICES AND READING SELECTIONS 59
- RELATION OF ENGLISH 131 TO OTHER "C" COURSES 60
- GENERAL POLICIES FOR 100-LEVEL EWP COURSES 61

CHAPTER 3 – DESIGNING THE ASSIGNMENTS & DESIGNING THE COURSE

- DESIGNING ASSIGNMENT SEQUENCES 65
- PRINCIPLES OF SEQUENCE DESIGN 67
- DESIGNING THE COURSE 69
- SAMPLE COURSE DESCRIPTIONS 71
- SAMPLE ASSIGNMENT SEQUENCES 74
- POTENTIAL ASSIGNMENTS 111
- ACTIVITIES, OUTCOMES, & THE TEXTBOOK 115

CHAPTER 4 – TEACHING INQUIRY & ARGUMENT IN THE COMPOSITION CLASSROOM

- INQUIRY IN SUPPORT OF ACADEMIC ARGUMENTATION 119
- THESIS STATEMENTS V. ARGUABLE CLAIMS 121
- TEACHING CLAIMS 125
- CLAIM WORKSHOPS 127
- TOULMIN ANALYSIS 131
- FURTHER READING 134

CHAPTER 5 – COLLABORATION IN THE COMPOSITION CLASSROOM

- WHY COLLABORATE? 135
- PLANNING EFFECTIVE COLLABORATIVE ACTIVITIES 136
- TROUBLESHOOTING 138
- SOME COLLABORATIVE ACTIVITIES 139
- FURTHER READING 148

CHAPTER 6 – GRAMMAR & MULTILINGUAL LANGUAGE LEARNERS IN THE COMPOSITION CLASSROOM

- PART ONE: GRAMMAR AS RHETORICAL CHOICE 150
  - THE GRAMMAR CONUNDRUM: WHEN, HOW, WHY? 151
  - EWP STATEMENT ON ERROR, LANGUAGE VARIATION, AND THE TEACHING AND ASSESSMENT OF GRAMMAR: THE PATHWAYS 153
  - PATHWAYS FOR CUEING AND TIMING OF GRAMMAR FEEDBACK AND INSTRUCTION 154
  - FITTING GRAMMAR INTO OUR DAILY LIVES 155
  - MARKING ERRORS OR READING THROUGH? 156
  - GRAMMAR & AUDIENCE 156
  - GRAMMAR & CLARITY 157
  - GRAMMAR & PERSUASION 157
  - SAMPLE ASSIGNMENTS 158

- Further Reading 164
- Part Two: Multilingual Language Learners in the English 131 Classroom 165
  - Further Reading 170
  - CCCC Statement on Multilingual Writing and Writers.....171

Chapter 7 – Talking With Students: Conferencing & Classroom Discussion

- Part One: Conferencing 179
  - Conferencing: What, Where, & How? 180
  - When to Conference? 180
  - The Conference "Process" 181
  - Basics of Good Conferencing 181
  - Varieties of Conferences 183
  - Difficult Conferences 184
  - Office Hours 185
- Part Two: Class Discussion 185
  - Discussion, Lecture, or Q&A? 186
  - Facilitating Productive Discussions 186
  - Preparing for Discussion 189
  - Other Suggested Discussion Activities 190

Chapter 8 – Evaluating and Responding to Student Writing

- Part One: Response 192
  - Tips for Effective Responding 193
  - Further Reading 198
- Part two: Dealing with Troubling papers.....199
  - Tips for Effective Responding. 200
- Part Three: Dealing with Plagiarism 203
  - Prevention 203
  - Detection 204
  - Confrontation 205
  - UW Resources on Plagiarism 206

Chapter 9 – Portfolios in English 131

- The Philosophy behind Portfolio Evaluation 207
- Building the Portfolio: What Does It Include? 208
- Responding to Student Writing with Portfolio Evaluation 211
- Discussing the Portfolio with Your Students 216
- Justifying Portfolios: How to "Sell" Them to Your Students 222
- Further Reading 223

Chapter 10 – Being in the Classroom . . . and Being Evaluated

- A Teaching Persona? 224
- Authority & Caring in the Classroom 225
- Evaluations 229
- Being Evaluated by Your Students 232
- The Handwritten Evaluation for English 131: Data from a Case Study 233

Appendix

- Course Outcomes, Expository Writing Program, University of Washington
- Portfolio Rubric for 100-Level English Courses
- Quick Reference